For many people, the city and life they knew has gone, but they are not yet able to move forward they are stuck in-between. In this moving collection, Mark Gibson tells their story. His 15 psalms put before God the hurts, frustrations, injustices and despair that people feel. They also offer praise and point to a new appreciation of the natural world around us and to hope for a brighter future. The poems, which document and reflect on the authors unfolding pastoral and spiritual journey, are grouped into broad categories: Earthquakes Loss and lament Healing and renewal Torrent Bay escapes Life goes on 60 haiku offer playful, snapshot impressions of living through the four seasons: autumn, winter, spring and summer. Draw on this collection for personal nourishment, strength in difficult times or use in worship. You are not alone. There is hope.
