Originally christened America's First Family of Song, The King Family exploded onto the national entertainment scene in 1965. Centered around the popular talents and rich harmonies of Grammy(R) nominated Big Band era greats The King Sisters, along with bandleader and guitar virtuoso Alvino Rey, the entire family displayed on weekly national television the musical talents of its 37 members, spanning three generations. During these years, the family's schedule also included record-breaking engagements at the nation's top concert venues including sold-out performances at The Hollywood Bowl, nightclub engagements in Las Vegas, Reno, and Lake Tahoe, appearances at Disneyland, and a King Family Day at the New York World...
